"There goes the electronic neighborhood." - M. Noonan

Apt. Pupil

The new site IntoTheBox.TV is taking a look at the psychology, sociology and economics behind the New York City housing market. They sent me this clip called "Renovation Pitfalls," but like Carrie Bradshaw I'm a renter so it wasn't of much use to me. But if you wanna see a construction worker's nice biceps or hear a straight man utter the following -- "Doing a home improvement project is a real Broadway play. There are a lot of things happening on stage and behind the scenes that makes it all come together" -- then please click on the image above.
